Bugsy malone actors then and now

7 March 2018, 14:28 | Update: March 7, 2018, 2:33PM Bugsy Malone was the ultimate musical when we were kids, whatever generation we might be with. It was created for children, with children, had an amazing soundtrack and was full of amazing fights and pedals. This year marks 42 years since Alan Parker's comedy first hit theaters, and he remains a beloved favorite on stage and screen. But what happened to the young cast? 1. Scott Baio (Bugsy) Scott was one of the coolest kids in the mid to late 1970s. After playing the title character, he played Chachi in Happy Days and his spin-off Joanie Loves Chachi. A year later, he led Charles in charge until 1990. In 1993, he played Dr. Jack Stewart in Dick Van Dyke's Murder Diagnosis, but left after just two seasons. Since then, he has appeared in various films and TV series, although none of them are as famous as those of his early career. These included roles in Veronica's Wardrobe, Superbabies: Baby Geniuses 2 and the sitcom See Dad Run. He also played inept lawyer Bob Loblaw in Arrested Development and also appeared on reality shows including VH1's Scott Baio Is 45... and single and Scott Baio is 46... pregnant. He is also known for his conservative views and support for Donald Trump. 2. Jodie Foster (Tallulah) Jodie has done pretty well for herself since Bugsy Malone, right? She was already in the industry because she was only three years old. In the same year as Bugsy, she was nominated for an Oscar for her role in Martin Scorsese's Taxi Driver. She soon appeared in The Little Girl Who Lives Down the Lane, Freaky Friday, Candleshoe and Foxes. After a few years of acting, she returned to huge recognition in 1988 in The Accused, winning an Oscar. Just three years later, she won her second award for The Silence of the Lambs. Her many films since then include Maverick, Contact, Anna and the King, Panic Room, Flightplan and Inside Man. She also directed The Beaver, Money Monster and episodes of Orange is the New Black and House of Cards. In 1981, there was also a strange incident, resulting in the assassination of U.S. President Ronald Reagan. The attacker, John Hinckley Jr., was obsessed with Jodie and decided to shoot the president in an attempt to impress her. 3. Florrie Dugger (Blousey) Florrie landed a women's lead after the original actress had a sudden surge. She is currently known by her married name Florence Garland and has decided to pursue an acting career. In 2015, she said, I liked acting, camaraderie and the joy of remembering roles. But I didn't want to do it professionally. At the age of 18, he became a medical administrator and served in several air force bases in The United Kingdom, South Korea and the United States. She left the military in 2001 and has since worked in the ophthalmology office. 4. John Cassisi (Fat Sam) John landed a part as Speakeasy Fat Sam boss after director Alan Parker asked for a child in the School. He later appeared in the sitcom Fish in 1977, but soon after stopped working and moved to the construction industry. From 2012 to 2014, he was director of global construction for Citigroup. However, in 2015 he pleaded guilty to bribery and was sentenced to up to six years in prison. He is married with three children. 5. Martin Lev (Dandy Dan) Martin played perhaps one of the most underrated villains of all time in Fat Sam Dandy's nemesis Dan. However, he soon retired from acting and began working as a designer. He suffered from ME, was the founder and director of action for ME, a self-help group for other people suffering from the condition. He tragically took his own life in 1992 at the age of 32. 6. Dexter Fletcher (Babyface) Since playing rather adorable down and out, Dexter has had roles in such as Long Good Friday and Press Gang, and has risen to greater fame after starring in Guy Ritchie's Lock, Time and Two Smoking Barrels. He later had roles in TV shows including Hotel Babylon and Band of Brothers, and even had a brief hosting period with Channel 4's GamesMaster. He is currently best known for his work as a director, and has been behind the camera for critics Sunshine on Leith and Eddie the Eagle. He is also the director of Freddie Mercury's upcoming biopic Bohemian Rhapsody. 7. Paul Murphy (Leroy) Paul was chosen by Parker to play shy boxer Leroy Smith, despite little or no acting experience. He didn't behave after Bugsy. While little is known about what he was up to then, he at least took part in various celebrations about the film, including this interview. 8. Sheridan Earl Russell (Knuckles) Ah poor Knuckles. We will never take over your death through a cream cake. Sheridan worked for more than a decade and starred in Jabberwock and Scum, but his last television role was in the 1989 episode of The Bill. He also participated in various Bugsy meetings, including a YouTube interview. 9. Albin Jenkins (Fizzy) Unfortunately, we can't seem to learn anything about Albin from his appearance as a tapdancing Fizzy handyman. Little has been known about his life and career since then, and he has not appeared in bugsy's recent celebrations. 10. Bonnie Langford (Lena) She had only one scene in the film, but the boy she did steal. Now you know it best as Kusha Carmel's mom in EastEnders, but Bonnie has been entertaining us since a very young age. She was also best known for her role as Dr. Mel Bush's companion in Doctor Who in the mid-1980s, and has appeared in various musicals in the West End and Broadway, including Peter Pan, Cats, The Pirates of Penzance and Chicago. She also participated in Dancing on Ice and won the British Soap Award for her role in EastEnders in 2016. The famous musical Bugsy Malone was first released in 1976 and got plenty of positive reviews! Sir Alan Parker's sassy singalong has a cast of living unknown youngsters (Jodie Foster aside). The youngsters played infamous American gangsters and molls. Of course, in the eyes of today, the film is classified as a classic of all time. However, when it was released it had a bit of a flop. This did not have a huge impact on the American box office. But in the eyes of critics, when it was released, he got quite a few positive reviews from them. The film itself has earned golden globes, BAFTA nominations and oscars! This article focuses on the main cast. Looking at them in 1976, and where they are today in 2016. After Bugsy Malone, part of the cast moved to some bigger and better productions. While some mysteriously disappeared. The Brooklyn-born actor made his film debut in Bugsy Malone. At the time, he admits that he was not very interested in himself. But he went for it anyway. Scott said: I went to town to meet Alan Parker. I read it, but I barely read it. I didn't even want to be there. He was English, but I didn't even know what it was. After Bugsy Malone, Biao played the character Chachi in the movie Happy Days. He even managed to wrap up his short-lived spin-off show. The spin-off show has been named Joanie Loves Chachi. But recently the actor was seen in the hit American tv series Arrested Development. The series stars Bob Loblaw. He has also appeared on many VH1 reality shows. This American actress played the character Blousey in the film. It was her only film. When Bugsy Malone cast, Florrie lived in the United Kingdom at a U.S. Air Force base. She was originally cast to play a rather small character. Since Bugsy Malone, Florrie hasn't acted since. Instead of acting, she followed in the footsteps of her family in the military. She joined the United States Air Force Medical Corps for a 21-year career. In 1976 she appeared in five, so five, films! Some of them include Bugsy Malone, Taxi Driver and Freaky Friday. Jodie was nominated for an Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress in the same year for the film Taxi Driver. She also received two Baftas for Bugsy Malone. Jodie is one of the few child actors to turn herself wonderfully into an adult actress award. She won two Oscars for The Accused and Silence of the Lambs. Recently, Jodie has taken a different turn and started directing. It is rumored that John was cast as Fat Sam when the director, Alan Parker, visited John's class in Brooklyn. Apparently Alan asked who was the naughtiest boy in the class and the whole class nominated John! John was a class in Bugsy Malone as Fat Sam. But John is no longer in the film industry. However, John went on to star in a short-lived TV show called Fish. This show is about a New York police officer who then adopts five children. John is now married and has children in real life. Currently working in the construction industry in New York He was born in Liverpool, United Kingdom. Martin started acting when he was 16. He starred in the NBC TV movie The Day After Tomorrow. After that, he was cast to play Dandy Dan in Bugsy Malone. He puts on more memorable performances in films as rival Fat Sam. Mainly because of his attention to mustache. After Bugsy Malone, Martin resigned from acting, then worked as a designer and then became a trustee of the action for ME. It is a charity that has been set up to raise awareness of the misunderstood disease. Unfortunately, in 1992 Martin committed suicide as a result of this disease. Martin was only 32 years old. British actor Dexter Fletcher began his acting career with Bugsy Malone. Dexter is known as a young bandit, Baby Face. Baby Face helps Bugsy Malone steal splurge guns for Fat Sam. After Bugsy Malone, Dexter then went on to reach the child star. Some of the roles in the films included a role in Long Good Friday and The Elephant Man. He then completed roles for teenagers. An example is the Press Gang on ITV. Dexter continued his acting career and was an adult actor. He starred in Band of Brothers, Lock, Stock and Two Smoking Barrels. Not forgetting Kick-Ass. Dexter has now moved to direct films. In 1970, Bonnie Langford won the Opportunity Knocks talent competition. She was only 6 years old. After she first appeared as Lena in Bugsy Malone. After Bugsy Malone starred in Just William and prime time children's show Junior Showtime. Since then, Bonnie Langford has played melanie bush's companion in Doctor Who alongside the sixth doctor played by Colin Baker and the seventh doctor played by Sylvester McCoy. Bonnie Langford is currently a star on BBC EastEnders.London-born actor Andrew Paul has turned into a professional at the age of 14. He made his film debut in Bugsy Malone. He played the role of Copper O' Dreaary. He then appeared in the film Scum and spent a lot of time as a youth touring with the RSC. After that he went on to star in The Bill as PC Dave Quinnan. This is what is well known nowadays. He played this role for 13 years. He also starred in BBC EastEnders as Maxwell Moon. But only briefly. He then worked at ITV and starred in Where The Heart Is. He is currently seen on NBC's Dracula. Before Bugsy Malone, Mark Curry appeared in numerous pantomimes as a child. In 1972, he appeared in the television panto Babes in The Wood. It was next to Bonnie Langford.After his film debut, he moved to a television presentation. He is best known for co-organising Blue Peter from 1986 to 1989. Ever since Blue Peter, Mark Curry has appeared in many West End plays and hosted a radio show called Curry For Breakfast. It aired on Talk Radio Europe.So you can see the actors and actresses have all had a busy life since starring in the amazing classic bugsy malone movie! Malone!
